KALAYA PRODUCTS PURE EMU OIL

The Australian Aborigines have been using emu oil for at least a 10,000 years and possibly very much longer. Some even say Emu Oil could be one of the oldest medicines on earth. However, it is only in the last 30 years that modern scientific research has reconfirmed the amazing healing power of “Highly Biologically Active Emu Oil”.

“Highly Biologically Active Emu Oil” is only achieved consistently by having quality controls over the entire operation from the farm to the rendering of the oil to the presenting of the finished product. Genetics, nutrition and correct farming practices combined with a rendering plant that compiles with the highest standards. Good Manufacturing Practice (GMP) and the highest quality assurance standards throughout all the Emu farming and oil rendering production processing (ISO 9002 standard). The strict management of these standards are essential to consistently produce “HIGHLY BIOLOGICALLY ACTIVE EMU OIL”.

CAUTION: However, there are many Emu Oils being sold that are not very biologically active medically. These less active oils usually come from farmers with cross-bred emu flocks and poor nutrition. Emus with the wrong genetics being fed inadequate diets and poor farming techniques contribute to poor quality emu oil. Many producers tend to make false claims about the medicinal potency of their oil.

Kalaya Pure Emu Oil is excellent for helping inflammatory diseases, such as arthritis and skin disorders that cause pain and irritation. Soothing relief is often experienced within minutes of topical application and the healing properties continue with each application of this amazing natural oil.

Kalaya Pure Emu Oil is highly penetrating, bacteriostatic, non-irritating and a hypoallergenic nutrient. Emu Oil has been shown to increase skin thickness, stimulate hair growth, soothe symptoms of arthritis, as well as having beneficial effects on a variety of wounds, including infections, burns, insect bites and pressure sores. Kalaya Pure Emu Oil has been approved for human consumption both orally and topically.

There are many reviewed studies and numerous reports that prove “Kalaya Highly Biologically Active Emu Oil” CAN BE to be far more effective than many of the prescribed drugs and un-natural chemical remedies to relieve the suffering caused by inflammatory conditions.
